

Fourth Foreign Languages Poetry Reading: Remembrance of Beloved Ones

Presented by the School of World Studies

A tribute to Wanda Hewlett Capers.
A poem of Wanda's will be read in several languages.

Wanda Hewlett Capers was a poet, mother and wife. She worked as Fiscal Administrator for the School of World Studies, where she abided by her father's philosophy: "May the work I've done speak for me."

Wanda's poetry was largely inspirational. "I am a spiritual person these days . . . I rely on God."

"I just have that belief that it's going to be better. There is a light. It's going to be better. He didn't lead me this far to leave me. . . He may not come when you want, but He comes when you need Him . . . It's all about your faith."

Tuesday, April 18th

5:00 - 6:30 pm

Hibbs Auditorium 403

900 Park Ave., Richmond, VA 23220

VCU

School of World Studies

College of Humanities and Sciences